About Sunday Friends

Sunday Friends is a non-profit that makes it possible for hundreds of very low-income individuals to make contributions to their community while they earn the basic consumable items that their families need. When a mom, dad, grandma, teen or child is able to help their family make ends meet and stay in housing through their own positive participation, the satisfaction is palpable. Because children and their parents work together to earn the supplies, they treasure them – and themselves – more. And, in the process, they develop work ethics, self-confidence, English literacy and practical life skills.
